Quarantine #3: The Burnouts By Lex Thomas

Teens infected with an ebola-like virus are trapped in their high school. Where readers of The Maze Runner and Divergent go when they're hungry for more dark survival stories. Lord of the Flies in a 21st-century high school setting.

In the third and final Quarantine book, David and Will are alive...but on the outside of McKinley High. Lucy is the last of the trinity left inside, where Hilary will exact a deadly revenge before taking over McKinley and bringing one final reign of terror to the school before the doors open for good. But the outside world is just as dangerous for carriers of the virus.

Praise for the Quarantine series:

*"The best high-concept YA thriller of the year... gritty and fearless." - Booklist (starred review)

"As original as The Hunger Games, set within the walls of a high school exactly like yours." - Kami Gracia, New York Times best-selling co-author of Beautiful Creatures

Also available in e-book (ISBN: 978-1-60684-339-0) format.

Editorial Review

From Booklist

**Starred Review** Even if someone tried to put a parental guidance sticker on this title, it would blister right off from the toxic rot inside. Two years after the escaped virus that got McKinley High sealed off from the world in Quarantine: The Loners (2012), the school has become a thunderdome of thuggery, violence, prostitution, and drugs. Having escaped the hell in Quarantine: The Saints (2013), Will is reunited with brother David in the relative peace of outside before they are both dragged back in to rescue the pregnant Lucy. Meanwhile, Lucy is ejected from the Sluts and falls into the hands of the Burnouts, lesion-covered creeps getting high on “stinkers”—fermented-feces fumes inhaled through a rubber glove. Yes, it’s disgusting. Really disgusting. In fact, this is so far outside most readers’ comfort zones that it feels like outsider art, a surreal attempt to extract meaning and purpose from the sickest of scenarios. The plot, such as it is, is powered by unbalanced ex-mean-girl Hilary, obsessed with finding new teeth to plug her tooth hole and determined to hold a demented “prom.” This trilogy-ender is the hastiest of the three—important moments are rushed through with regularity—but as a caper to this undersung “psycho soap opera,” it sure does its dirty job. One character’s last words sum up the whole mad series: “Peace, fuck, barf, love.” Grades 10-12. --Daniel Kraus

About the Author

Lex Thomas is the pen name for the writing team of Lex Hrabec and Thomas Voorhies. Their first novel, QUARANTINE: THE LONERS, earned a starred review from Booklist, and Huffington Post Books praised it, saying, "You will not be able to put this book down."

Lex received a BA in Drama and English from the University of Virginia and has worked as an actor, director and writer. He lives in Virginia with his wife and two daughters. Thomas graduated with a Bachelors of Fine Arts from the Rhode Island School of Design, and now writes and exhibits his realist oil paintings in Los Angeles.

Lex and Thomas met in a writers' group. Their friendship developed as they tried to blow each other's minds with clips from bizarre movies. In 2005, they became a screenwriting team and found that writing with a friend is much more fun than doing it alone. Visit them at lex-thomas.com.
